

T- Level: Education and Childcare & Education and Assisting Teaching courses

T-Level Education and Childcare Early Years Educator and Education and Assisting Teaching courses - Summer Task

Please fully describe and evaluate the role of the following legislation in supporting and safeguarding the rights of children and vulnerable groups:

- Equality Act 2010
- The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child
- The Special Educational Needs Code of Practice: 0 to 25 years 2015

Word count: 1000 to 1500

Command words:

Describe: is a command word that asks you to provide a detailed account of something, including its characteristics, features or key aspects. It focuses on presenting a clear and comprehensive picture of the subject.	Evaluate: is a command word which instructs you to assess the importance or worth of something. It involves considering different options and arguments and then forming a conclusion. You should consider challenges or barriers and strengths and weaknesses.
--	---

Equality Act 2010

Demonstrate your understanding of:

- Equality
- Discrimination
- Inclusion

Fully explore and provide examples for legislation, policies and procedures relating to equality, diversity and inclusive practice. You must demonstrate your understanding of the Equality Act 2010 with the 9 characteristics and provide examples of how they work in Early Years and Schools (a little hint – it is not just the children it protects, you can include examples about the children, the staff, parents and anyone who comes into work there).

Special Educational Needs Code of Practice: 0 to 25 years 2015

- Explore the guidance for Early Year providers, schools and colleges
- The 4 broad areas of need
- The collaboration between different services, the importance of this multidisciplinary approach and the barriers or challenges in provision (Health, Education and Social Care).

United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child

- Explain the UNCRC Rights of the Child
- Demonstrate your understanding of what it is, and how it supports children’s rights.