Where is Flipper? – by Holly Bowyer

Once upon a seashell there lived a little mermaid who's name was Clara and she had a pet seahorse called Flipper. They did everything together and went everywhere with each other.

It was a bright sunny morning on a Sunday. Clara was so excited because it was her birthday and party tomorrow! She spent all morning making the invitations that she forgot all about Flipper. Flipper didn't like being on his own so he decided to escape.

When Clara had finished she held up her invitations to show Flipper but he wasn't there. She looked in his bedroom, in the kitchen cupboards abut he wasn't anywhere. So she went to look outside. She looked everywhere in the seabed of pearls but he wasn't outside in the garden either.

Clara decided to go and ask her Mum and Dad, "Can I go and look for Flipper because he's escaped and I don't know why?"

Her Mum and Dad said "yes"

So she went to Flipper's favourite café. She saw him sitting next to the record player where you could play any music you liked but he wasn't listening to his normal upbeat song. He was listening to a sad song.

Clara went over and asked "Why do you look so sad?"

"You weren't playing with me this morning so I got upset and ran away" he replied snuffling.

 "Oh I'm sorry I forgot all about you but I still want you to come to my party tomorrow" she said.

Flipper was so happy hat he changed the song and put on his favourite upbeat song.
